DAY SEVEN

JULY 28

HIGHLIGHTS:

- Presidential Press Conference
- Sine Die
- Banquet
- After Party

Meet the media

ALA Girls Nation President Isabella and Vice President Ashland held their first press conference. They discussed their platforms with the reporters.

Sine Die

Senate wrapped up with the Sine Die. If you are unfamiliar with that term, it comes from the Latin expression "without a day." So, it means the conclusion of a meeting, such as legislature.

Ceremonial Bill signing

President Ysabella signed 10 bills and two resolutions into effect.

Did you know?

- The first president to make an address on the radio was President Warren G. Harding in 1922.
- President Franklin Delano Roosevelt was the first president to appear on television in 1939.
- The first president to send an email while in office was President Bill Clinton in 1994.

Time to celebrate

The senators celebrated with a banquet and after party. Many hugs and tearful goodbyes to their new life-long friends. Congratulations, senators, on a great week at 2023 ALA Girls Nation!

Thank you for many years of service

ALA Girls Nation Government Director Jane Thurston is saying goodbye to the program. Thurston has been the government director for 15 years. She also has been involved with ALA Hoosier Girls State for 30 years. Friday morning the senators introduced a memorial resolution in her honor. Thank you for your ALA service, Jane! Here's a look back at Jane over the years:

THANK YOU!
